Human Trafficking in Social Media  (rescheduled date)
April 17, (Friday)  2020, 8am -5pm, Jamestown Campus

This one-day course is designed as a specialized class in conducting Human Trafficking / Prostitution Investigations utilizing Social Media and OSINT. Long gone are the days of prostitutes working “the track.” The internet, specifically, Social Media has turned in to the “Modern Day Street Corner” for prostitution and Human Trafficking. Additionally, pimps and traffickers rely heavily on Social Media to recruit their potential victims. This course will instruct the student to properly utilize Social Media and OSINT resources to conduct and supplement their prostitution and human trafficking investigations by familiarization with the most commonly used Social Media sites, as well as some lesser known Social Media applications and how to legally obtain information from them. Seating is limited to 40 students
